Step into the World of 'My Fair Lady'

Last week, Key Stage 3 staged its first drama production. In preparation for the show, students thoroughly enjoyed taking part in weekly drama sessions which focused on expression, body movement and stage performance.

Set in Victorian London, this Key Stage 3 Production 'My Fair Lady' was finely mixed with musical numbers as well as comedic acts. This production was an entertaining ride into the early 20th century.

My Fair Lady tells the story of a misogynist and snobbish phonetics professor who agrees to a wager that he can take a poor flower girl and make her presentable in high society. Henry Higgins, an arrogant irascible, takes a bet with Colonel Pickering, that he can transform an unrefined, cockney flower girl into a refined Victorian Lady with an aristocratic accent and pass her off as a duchess.

Our very own students designed the invitation, the poster and the program.

The performance was a major success; our students discovered their inner talents. It was extremely pleasing to see our students move out of their comfort zones and combat their fears of being on stage.
